

Norton Garden & Amistad Apartments Construction Update

Swift progress is being made on the Norton Garden Apartment/Administration Building and Pitzer Friendship Court/Amistad Apartments.

Above: Large pieces of asphalt are lifted off Plymouth Road to make room for a pedestrian walkway. Below: The view from New Merritt shows Norton Garden and the future native plant garden and pathway between the buildings.

Phase I Construction

Above: Workers add finishing touches to an apartment balcony. The light, cream-colored “color coat” highlights the terracotta tile roof and charming wrought iron railings.

Phase II Construction

With the foundation poured in March, workers began framing the Pitzer Friendship Court and Amistad Apartment Building in April.

Top left: A set of carports facing Leyden Lane begin taking shape, as does the first floor of Pitzer Friendship Court – the new fourth wing of Assisted Living apartments.

Middle left: Carpenters walk across ceiling beams to construct one of the Amistad Apartment balconies.

Lower left: A hint of things to come! The back stairwell begins to take shape with a railing and small north-facing window.

Above: The first floor of Pitzer Friendship Court extends toward the north. Under blue skies and balmy temperatures, the new buildings are on schedule and looking great!

Consultant, Edward Steinfeldt has guided the Campus Development Project for Pilgrim Place.

May 1, 2010